7 – 9 p.m., Thursday, Jan. 19

Hesterberg Hall, MTU Forestry Building

Including a Zoom talk with the producer after the film

As global bird and insect populations plummet, landscapers across the U.S. are racing to provide live-saving habitat in their yards and cityscapes. Featuring renowned entomologist and best-selling author Douglas Tallamy, Hometown Habitat visits several of these habitat heroes and tells their inspiring stories of community commitment to conservation landscaping.
